

Anxin-China Attended the 19th Moscow International Public Security Exhibition

(Moscow, Russia-Apr.15th-18th, 2013) The Moscow International Public Security Exhibition was grandly held in Moscow All-Russia exhibition center. Herein, such an exhibition was internationally famous for its strong specialization and large scale in the Russian Security Industry.

As a leading intelligent security comprehensive operation provider in China, Anxin-China also attended this exhibition center with an outstanding manifestation. Presently, the Russian security market is in a rapid development stage, as its security hardware and software industry has an annual growth rate at more than 10%. Actually, this exhibition also attracted the participation of many globally well-known manufacturers including JVC, Honeywell, Sony and etc. Wangbo the vice-president of Anxin-China took apart in his exhibition himself simply in order to expand Anxin-China' s influence big in the international security market; it aimed at competing with other celebrated manufacturers, for getting the access to the Russian security equipment industrial market which was worthy of 1.5 billion dollars every year.

Liu Xueyuan (right) from Marketing Center

Specifically in this exhibition, Anxin-China focused on displaying its newly-developed video surveillance and pre-alerting products including smart-card, security & telecommunication construction, public safety pre-alerting system as well as other system solutions. Anxin-China also highlighted a series of brand new productions, for instance, the new WIFI network HD camera had completely unique advantages in video and audio aspects. Thus, with a variety of practical edges, Anxin-China attracted lots of specialized clients, who actually presented intense cooperation intention and deep interests, and even purchased some samples on site.

During the MIPS period lasting for 4 days, Anxin-China as a splendid Chinese representative completely showed off its great edges, scientific innovation capability as well as unique struggling spirit. Hence, Anxin-China had the confidence to promote its brand name and productions to the whole international market; it strived for searching all kinds of business cooperation forms, so as to become an internationally well-known security production & service solution provider. 🌀