

Anxin-China Provides the Solution Protecting a City Safe

On the morning of Oct. 14th, 2013, a fire accident occurred in a three-layer color steel plate room in Guomao, Chaoyang District with the fire area at 80 square meters, which had been put out as the journalist reached the accident site, reported Jinghua Times. A worker told the journalist locally that the color steel room used high voltage during 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., which led the whole building not able to offer the enough voltage to charge a mobile phone. Anyway, as a consequence, 5 rooms on the 3rd floor were totally destroyed, and 2 rooms on the 2nd floor were damaged. Several workers complained about that their all financial properties were burnt down.

The only thing worthy of our fortune is that the result of this accident is the financial loss instead of any personnel injury or death. The low voltage signs that this accident is not caused by the power utilization. Whereas, it's always something subtle hat makes personnel deaths and injuries though it seemed not that serious. However, we have seen previous carelessness and latter compensation for so many times while lost lives can never get back again. Thus, it's urgent for us to take effective measures to prevent or reduce those cases happening.

Herein, Anxin-China carries out the compromise of safe cities though sparing no efforts to implement the emergency management to real-time emergency rescue. Specifically, in the first place, install the fog sensor in the target areas, and then the system will send alarms automatically to related personnel as the sensor value exceeds the normal one. Next, the surveillance personnel will acknowledge that there is something wrong and it's necessary to make out a comprehensive plan to keep the fire under control at the early stage.

The great goal of Anxin-China is to protect personnel's lives and financial properties safe and to build smart cities in the long run. Your safe is our business, Anxin-China!
