

Safety Production is Never Simply an Oral Slogan

At 11 o'clock on May 20th, there was a new explosion in one powder-manufacturing corporation in eastern Jinan City, with several house collapses. Some government principals, ministry of public security and fire protection department reached the accident site to execute emergency rescue.

Anyway, this boom reminds us of lots of family will be destroyed because of many lives dead in this case, which also indicates that the safety production should attract our serious attentions. We see this slogan everywhere that “the responsibility of safety production is the most beautiful thing”, whereas nobody is willing to realize its implications to take some effective means. On the other side, it's also the state security management department lacking of most solutions that lead a series of production accidents. Herein, Anxin-China catches this piont, and begins to take its responsibility to develop a fabulous security surveillance system, Anxin-China ISD system. With a high efficiency, Anxin-China ISD system could bring the security surveillance level into a higher new degree, which firmly prevents the potential security accidents and dangerous hazards through monitoring major indexes of industrial production in real-time. Thus, Anxin-China ISD system helps the government departments at all level to deeply put the slogan of “safety production” into practice, reducing the occurrence of production accidents.

The construction of Anxin-China ISD system can achieve the promotion of both surveillance control means and corporations' security self-consciousness. Of course, the corporate attitude is the first thing to decide the safety guarantee. However, Anxin-China, with its own slogan “your safety is our business”, always believes in the responsibility of safety production is greater than other things, and sincerely hopes everyone could remember their obligations of keeping safe production or behaviors.
