

HD Cameras from Anxin-China successfully Passed the Government Inspection

(Shenzhen-August 19th, 2013) Shenzhen Hawell Future Technology Co., Ltd., one of Anxin-China's subsidiaries, independently develops and manufactures HD gun camera series, including HW-Q2010HPCDW and HW-Q1307HPCDW, and HD dome camera series, including HW-C1307HIDD18 and HW-S2010HSDD20, and all of them have successfully passed the inspection of the 1st Institution of Ministry of Public Security. Moreover, they have received the pattern testing report and 28181 platform detection report that are cooperatively awarded by both State's security defense and alarm system product quality supervision inspection center (Beijing) and Ministry of Public Security & Police Electronic Product Quality Testing Center.

In accordance with national standards and enterprise standards for production, this test respectively took 10 units from each model samples, and then tested their external view, resolution, signal to noise ratio, minimum illumination, stability and et al. according to the authorized requirements and methods. As a result, all the above testing items indicate qualified.

However, this pattern test has cost three months, which is in the charge of strategic planning department from Anxin-China. Finally, those above testing reports and certificates show that four models of cameras have the qualification and application value to be put into the marketing stage.
