

Anxin-China's ISD System Prevents the Accidents in Fireworks Production

On the afternoon of Nov. 1st, 2013, a bomb accident occurred in a fireworks production factory in Wuzhou City, Guangxi Province, with 12 dead, reported aqsc.cn.

On Oct. 29th, the State's administration of Work Safety revealed the news that another explosion accident happened in fireworks production factory in Liuyang, Changsha, Hunan, with 4 dead, one injured, and 26 factory rooms destroyed. On Sep. 28th, a fireworks manufacturing factory met with a bomb accident casually in Changde, Hunan, with 3 dead, 2 injured.

It is the end of this year presently, which also means a beneficial season for producing and selling fireworks. Thus, a series of production accidents consistently happened owing to the limitations of local government's surveillance and regulation level, as well as the insufficient working environment in the fireworks production sites. Here, Anxin-China has already noticed the government's surveillance requests and people's requirements in the aspect of safety production, and then develops ISD into the fireworks manufacturing area. The key is that ISD system can take the place of traditional artificial surveillance model to monitor the work sites in real time and check the corporate information, so as to realize the 7/24 surveillance model. Anyway, the basic infrastructure construction is the premise to wipe out all potential risks in the working process. Anxin-China's ISD system can makes full use of its precaution feature and emergency rescue coordination to reduce the loss of life and financial properties to the minimum extent.

However, the safety production concerns the social stability, and those above accidents urge the government and corporate principals to develop solutions, for instance, Anxin-China's ISD system, to prevent all the safety production accidents.
